

HARRIS.
One-Price, Square-Dealing,
CLOTHIER,
ST. LOUIS BLOCK,
MAIN STREET.

SOME OF THE MERCHANT
Tailoring fraternity seem to take exceptions to our remarks in former advertisements. Now, we have only this much to say: We do not wish to take the bread from the mouth of any person who is "chasing the nimble sixpence," but we have no apologies to make for any remarks we have made, and hereby announce we are willing and anxious to prove to anyone desirous of proof that our Tailor-Made Clothing, for Style and Fit, are ahead of any of the productions of the merchant tailors! who charge for good work and turn out a class of work inferior in it, inferior in its style, inferior in all points that go to make a nobby, well-fitting and good-wearing suit of clothes.

SORRY! VERY SORRY,
Gentlemen, to tread upon your corns, but you know we state the truth.

Among the novelties of this week's arrivals, of two things especially "cheesy." One a Black Diagonal Cheviot. Flat Binding. Patch Pockets—very swell. We show them in Sacks and Frocks, and if you want a neat suit without taking chances of bankrupting yourself you cannot do better than on one of these. Another is a line of "Nigger Head" Cheviots. They are enough to make your mouth water, and you can't go astray if you buy one of them.

Those Fine Overcoats we have mentioned last as over in our stock as does a "June frost in shoe." People can readily appreciate a good thing, and they find on examining the stocks shown here in town how far superior ours are to any that are shown. Those English Box Coats, Strap Seams and Nobby Flannel Linings, are the "swell thing" just now. They must be seen to be appreciated. We have just received one hundred of them by express.

We would like to add a word about our Children's Clothing. A very large excess of our sales has been on fine goods, leaving us over-stocked on cheap lines. In order to get this stock to its proper proportions we will for a week only offer cuts in low-priced goods. We name a few Specialties, which will be gobbled up at once, so take hold:

500 Pairs Children's Pants,	35c
100 Suits Children's Clothing,	$1.15
100 Suits Children's Clothing,	$2.00
100 Suits Children's Clothing,	$3.00

Not an article shown can be purchased elsewhere for anything like the price.

HARRIS
The One-Price Clothier
ST. LOUIS BLOCK,
MAIN STREET.

THE SILVER CONVENTION.

Over Three Hundred Delegates, Representing All Sections, in Attendance at St. Louis.

Address of Temporary President Rumsey on the Work Before the Convention.

Ohio, Colorado and Pennsylvania Honored in the Selection of Permanent Officers for the Body.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—The National Silver convention met this morning. Three hundred and fifty delegates were present, and a large number of spectators. James Campbell called the convention to order and introduced L. M. Rumsey of St. Louis as temporary chairman, and Albert Singer temporary secretary. Rumsey said: "You are not a law-making body, it is true, but as all laws are the results of the popular will, and as you have been almost as popularly sent to represent the people of this United States as are the members of congress sent to voice the will of the people in Washington, it follows the congress of the United States may find through your deliberations and conclusions that you are the latest representatives from the people upon the question of silver coinage laws; that they must obey the will of the people of the United States, and enact the laws your body cannot enact, which will give to the people of the United States the privilege of coining their silver as freely as they coin their gold. In so large an assemblage it would be strange if there were not those who have some pet hobby, no doubt very excellent and desirable in some other convention, but the time for the discussion of this monetary question is so brief, it is hoped no extraneous subjects will be attempted to be pushed upon the attention of this convention."

At the conclusion of his address various committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions were appointed, and the convention took a recess till 3 p. m. The convention reassembled promptly at 3 o'clock. The entire afternoon was spent in a discussion of how the convention should vote, some contending that each delegate present should be entitled to one vote; others that the delegation should vote its full strength by proxy, no matter how many delegates were in the convention. The matter was finally settled by the adoption of a resolution offered by Senator Stewart of Nevada, that each delegation should be entitled to twenty votes, and all over that number in any delegation should be allowed one vote each.

The committee on permanent organization reported the following permanent officers: Chairman, A. J. Warner, of Ohio; vice chairman, J. McMichael, of Colorado; secretary, Albert Singer, of Missouri; assistant secretaries, F. L. Dana, of Colorado, T. J. Palmer, of Kansas, J. A. Greer, of Pennsylvania.

Chairman Warner, upon being introduced to the convention by Senator Stewart, thanked that body for the unexpected honor. He said that no subject interested more people than the silver question. Since Germany, in 1872, followed by other European powers and partly by the United States, demonetized silver as money, the question had been a vital issue, and in the discussion the metallists had won a victory. He attempted to change the money standard from gold and silver to gold alone was worse than a mistake—it was a crime. The demonetization of silver had made the gold standard different than before that act; the demonetization of silver was, in fact, a great crime, and its revocation was now the important question before the world. The people had suffered more from bad monetary legislation than from any other cause. The first thing the metallists had won a victory. He never had been disturbed, and this convention had assembled here to decide upon the best methods to be pursued in reaching the desired end.

H. B. Chamberlain, president of the Denver board of commerce, on behalf of the body, then presented a solid silver gavel to Chairman Warner. A number of resolutions, were read, and so recorded. The committee is composed of strong one, and it is expected will embody the wishes of the convention briefly, and so clearly that they will be easily understood. After the announcement that there would be a reception at the Merchants' Exchange to-night, the convention adjourned. The committee on resolutions is as follows: Arkansas, B. D. Williams; Arizona, John C. Loss; Colorado, T. B. Buchanan; Idaho, Hon. F. M. Fyfe; Idaho, Wm. Dingman; Indiana, P. P. Kennedy; Illinois, Hon. G. E. White; Kansas, A. H. McLennan; Kentucky, H. W. Waterman; Montana, W. G. Gallagher; Missouri, R. P. Ward; Nebraska, Wm. Wallace; New Mexico, Juan Zafra; New York, T. Jordan; Nevada, Francis J. Texas, Charles Longmear; Utah, C. C. Goodwin; District of Columbia, J. C. Nichols; Michigan, Hon. Ben. Calvin; Wyoming, W. Grant; Tennessee, A. J. Kellar; Virginia, John Porter.

Card From John Kinna & Son.
Editor INDEPENDENT—On Saturday last there appeared in the Helena Journal the following:

Hardware
For sale. A large assortment of skeleton keys, jimmies and crow toes and the most complete assortment of burglars' tools anywhere in the west. Members of the legislature are requested to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere. Prices as low as at any other responsible house.

The above was inserted in the Journal without our knowledge or the knowledge of any one in our employ, and we respectfully ask the public to release us from all responsibility for its appearance. While we may have our personal preference as to politics, we desire to have our patrons and friends, regardless of politics, to know that our politics have nothing to do with the conducting of our hardware business. We ask the public for their business, be they democrats or republicans, and therefore wish to have the public understand that the above was inserted in the Journal without our knowledge or consent.

Respectfully,
JOHN KINNA & SON,
Per THOMAS GOFF.

MADE A BIG HAIL.

Train Robbers in Indian Territory Secure a Small Fortune.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—About 12 o'clock last night fifteen masked and heavily armed men boarded the south bound Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train at Berwin, a small station in Indian Territory, and cut the engine, express and mail car loose from the coaches. They then ran the train south two miles, and threw the fireman off the locomotive. Two miles further the engine was thrown off, and after running four miles further steam was shut off and the locomotive "killed." Then the robbers made an attack on the express cars. The guard and messenger fired some twenty shots, but finally gave in, after the robbers had literally riddled the cars. The money stolen is between $20,000 and $30,000, and came principally from Chicago.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., Nov. 26.—The big robbery in the Indian nation last night is the general topic here. The Wells-Fargo people say the amount lost is $300,000, but there is every reason to believe it is between $20,000 and $30,000. It is known every day for a month past thousands of dollars have been brought into Texas to be used in raising Texas crops. It is stated the railroad officials were warned that a robbery would be attempted, and for that reason had a guard and a deputy marshal on the train. These two, however, gave up the fight after the robbers had riddled the car with bullets. It is known one of the robbers was wounded, for a trail of blood leads from the truck some distance. Posses have so far been unsuccessful in their search.

AMUSEMENTS.

Charlotte Thompson at Ming's Opera House—Other Attractions.

Another large audience was at Ming's opera house last evening to witness Miss Thompson and her company in the famous dramatic success "Jane Eyre." Miss Thompson's rendition of the leading character was fully in keeping with the reputation she has won on the American stage. It was full of vigor and intelligent appreciation. That it met with the approval of the audience was made known by enthusiastic applause. The other characters were well taken and the performance was smooth and satisfactory. This evening Miss Thompson will appear in the sensational society comedy-drama, Hearts Astray. At the Thanksgiving matinee Jane Eyre will again be presented. Miss Thompson's successful engagement thus far insures large audiences at the remaining performances.

The Spider and Fly.

The announcement that M. B. Leavitt's spectacular burlesque "Spider and Fly," will appear at Ming's next week will be gladly received by the theatre goers of Helena. Comedy, burlesque, pantomime and specialty will be the order of things, with magnificent scenic effects, costumes and properties thrown in. The company will comprise fifty odd people. Among the stars are Hilda Thomas, Bessie Cleveland, Pauline Markham, Louise Allen, Ada Dore, Kitty Hill, Lulu Redden, Marguerite Wood, Doris & Oreste, the Dore Brothers, August Siegrist, the Lenten Brothers, Joseph Mealey, the clever clown, Tommy Dore, and the well known pantomimist, James R. Adams.

The Hyer Sisters for Helena.

At the urgent solicitation of many Helena people, Wm. Greene has decided to play the famous Hyer sisters, with their fine band, two nights in Helena. Harmonia Hall has been engaged for this purpose Friday and Saturday nights. It was intended to go to Boulder after playing at Marysville Thanksgiving night, but Billy acquiesced to the wishes of his many friends. The Hyer sisters are well known throughout the country. They were at Bismarck, N. D., a few days ago, and of their entertainment, among other good things, the Tribune says: "It is seldom that such a large crowd greets a theatrical performance in Bismarck. The Hyer sisters are all that they are represented to be, as the numerous encores testified. The play was prolonged owing to the repeated encores, and the audience enjoyed nearly three hours of solid amusement. The play is replete with songs, dances and many ridiculously funny situations that kept the audience in a constant roar of mirth."

Sale of seats begins Thursday morning at Parnell's drug store.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Marshal Hard says the dogs in the pound are well fed and cared for.

R. McPherson attempted to hold up one of Milkman Stanchfield's drivers last night, in the rear of the Eldorado saloon and was knocked down for his pains. McPherson was arrested.

Geo. Green arrested for taking the law into his own hands for nearly strangling "Doc" the colored man, by hanging him with the assistance of Douglas Simpson, pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon, but the judge reserved his decision to await the results of "Doc's" injuries which are said to be very serious. Besides nearly strangling the poor fellow was almost beaten to death and is pretty badly injured.

PERSONAL.

George Wainwright, Northern Pacific agent at Townsend, is in the city.

Attorney-General Haskell left for Glendive last evening to be home with his family for Thanksgiving dinner.

Lieutenant-Governor Rickards has changed his lodgings from the Grand Central to rooms 32 and 33 Gates block. His family will arrive from Butte to day and remain till after Thanksgiving.

Among yesterday's arrivals at the Wool-drift hotel are G. R. Stover, Bozeman; Rev. P. A. Hilman and wife, Denver; E. H. Stevens, New York, and E. J. Doherty, St. Paul.

Among the visitors to the city is Gen. J. S. Brislin, of Fort Custer. Gen. Brislin has been in Montana for the past twenty years, and has made many valuable literary contributions to the press descriptive of Indian wars in which he has often been the prominent leader. He has not been in Helena for the past five years and notices with pleasant surprise the many substantial improvements.

Rooms.

Members of the legislature and their friends, who are seeking a location for the winter, can find bright, cheerful rooms at the Harvey block, Grand street. Central location and first-class accommodations.

SWINDLED RICH AND POOR

Fredericksen & Co., Land Agents of Chicago, Take the Public in for a Million.

Thousands of Norwegian Settlers and Many Prominent Western Men Heavy Losers.

Getting an Option on Railroad Lands and Then Forging Deeds—The Assets in Sight.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Sensational developments are following each other rapidly in the million dollar swindle of Fredericksen & Co., land agents. To-night it is asserted that thousands of settlers, mainly Scandinavians, in Kansas, Iowa and other western states, who have as yet supposed paid for their land and got deeds from Fredericksen, have absolutely no title to it. Dark hints are dropped that back of Fredericksen were parties in Milwaukee, who are the real beneficiaries of the gigantic frauds. Wholesale arrests of clerks and other persons in Chicago who have acted as Fredericksen's tools, are taken of. To-morrow the states-attorney and the chief sufferers will consult and organize a plan of campaign. Eight or ten eastern capitalists are said by one authority to be about to have contributed $100,000 each to Fredericksen's coffers, and $70,000 is thought to have been dropped by a single victim out of the many in Milwaukee. E. G. Clumbstock is another Wisconsin victim. Mr. Cowie was heard declaring this afternoon that Fredericksen's arrest would be a relief to the end of the world. Cowie says several working girls in Chicago invested with Fredericksen from $50 to $400, and have lost all. Among the Chicago capitalists who are mentioned as having had confidence in Fredericksen and suffered thereby, are E. G. Southworth the steel man and S. W. Rawson the banker. Besides these the losers are thought to include the Fort Dearborn national bank, and the Chicago Loan & Trust Co. Ex-Governor Rice, of Wisconsin, one of the victims of the swindle arrived this afternoon. He admits losing $150,000 and says cashier Neumann, of the Merchants exchange bank, of Milwaukee, is also a heavy loser, while C. D. Hendricks, a prominent real estate broker of Milwaukee, has lost every cent he owned and been forced to assign. Milwaukeeans believed the Chicagoans had invested Fredericksen, and therefore did not themselves invest. Rice says Fredericksen's plan was to get an option on a tract of land some rail road company, and representing that he owned it, sell farms to ignorant emigrants. The swindle was furnished by notaries in Fredericksen's office, who certified to anything. Some weeks ago Fredericksen confessed to Neumann, Henderson and Rice that he had been issuing fraudulent deeds and mortgages, but the enormous extent of the deception was not disclosed. The trio of capitalists let Fredericksen go ahead and form a stock company of half a million dollars to carry on the business, and they themselves took most of the stock. Mealey, the clever clown, crooked lawyer, came to their ears, and Fredericksen had fled. Rice says a number of large dealers in railroad lands in Chicago hold Fredericksen's paper, but are keeping quiet for fear it will injure their credit. To-day Fredericksen's bookkeeper, Goodwin, was held in bonds of $15,000 until Saturday. Mr. Vaughan, who was appointed receiver for Fredericksen, asked to be discharged. He was given a discharge in sight less than one hundred dollars.

THAT WHITE HORSE.

Yesterday's Proceedings in the Cronin Case—Adjourned For Two Days.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The entire forenoon session in the Cronin case was taken up with evidence in rebuttal, but nothing of interest was developed. A child of one of the jurors is ill.

The next five witnesses who were called attacked the reputation of August Saltsman, the man who testified that a new lock was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified that he was in Nieman's saloon two or three times during the night of May 5, and on each occasion there were ten or twelve persons there. This was in rebuttal of the testimony of Hylands, who testified they drank with O'Sullivan there at that time, and that no one else was in the place. Chester J. Smith next testified that he examined the files of the Chicago papers and found Conghlin's name in connection with the white horse was not mentioned prior to May 25. This was put on Hoerl's door after May 8. Pat Dinan, the owner of the white horse, testified that when he was being questioned by Capt. Schaeck in the presence of Conghlin, and when Schaeck asked him for a description of the man who had hired the white horse, witness replied: "Conghlin knows him and saw him, and can describe him to you better than I can." Andrew Randerson testified